Adjectives

Descriptive Adjectives
The most common type of adjective; describes things or people.

Numerical Adjectives
Relates to number and the order of things.

Comparison of Adjectives
Adjective have three degrees of comparison or quality: positive, comparative and superlative.

The long slow walk up the path was exhausting and painful, because I wore my new shoes.

number: seven people, one hundred years, each day.

fantastic planet silly people large elephant

Positive
She ran fast
His car is messy

Comparative
She ran faster
His car is messier

Superlative
She ran the fastest
His car is the messiest

Adjectives are describing words. They give extra information about people or things – nouns. Adjectives are usually positioned in front of the noun they describe.

Adjectives are describing words. They give extra information about people or things – nouns. Adjectives are usually positioned in front of the noun they describe.

order of things: first, second, final.

indefinite number: a few problems, some hope.

Created by David Newman speech-language pathologist